Title:
International Evaluation of Research and Doctoral Training at the University of Helsinki 2005–2010 : RC-Specific Evaluation of Gender Studies

Summary:
Researcher Community (RC) was a new concept of the participating unit in the evaluation. Participation in the evaluation was voluntary and the RCs had to choose one of the five characteristic categories to participate.

Evaluation of the Researcher Community was based on the answers to the evaluation questions. In addition a list of publications and other activities were provided by the TUHAT system. The CWTS/Leiden University conducted analyses for 80 RCs and the Helsinki University Library for 66 RCs. Panelists, 49 and two special experts in five panels evaluated all the evaluation material as a whole and discussed the feedback for RC-specific reports in the panel meetings in Helsinki. The main part of this report is consisted of the feedback which is published as such in the report.

Chapters in the report:
1. Background for the evaluation
2. Evaluation feedback for the Researcher Community
3. List of publications
4. List of activities
5. Bibliometric analyses

The level of the RCs' success can be concluded from the written feedback together with the numeric evaluation of four evaluation questions and the category fitness. More conclusions of the success can be drawn based on the University-level report.

Foreword

The evaluation of research and doctoral training is being carried out in the years 2010–2012 and will end in 2012. The steering group appointed by the Rector in January 2010 set the conditions for participating in the evaluation and prepared the Terms of Reference to present the evaluation procedure and criteria. The publications and other scientific activities included in the evaluation covered the years 2005–2010.

The participating unit in the evaluation was defined as a Researcher Community (RC). To obtain a critical mass with university-level impact, the number of members was set to range from 20 to 120. The RCs were required to contain researchers in all stages of their research career, from doctoral students to principal investigators (PIs). All in all, 136 Researcher Communities participated in this voluntary evaluation, 5857 persons in total, of whom 1131 were principal investigators. PIs were allowed to participate in two communities in certain cases, and 72 of them used this opportunity and participated in two RCs.

This evaluation enabled researchers to define RCs from the “bottom up” and across disciplines. The aim of the evaluation was not to assess individual performance but a community with shared aims and researcher-training activities. The RCs were able to choose among five different categories that characterised the status and main aims of their research. The steering group considered the process of applying to participate in the evaluation to be important, which lead to the establishment of these categories. In addition, providing a service for the RCs to enable them to benchmark their research at the global level was a main goal of the evaluation.

The data for the evaluation consisted of the RCs’ answers to evaluation questions on supplied e-forms and a compilation extracted from the TUHAT – Research Information System (RIS) on 12 April 2011. The compilation covered scientific and other publications as well as certain areas of scientific activities. During the process, the RCs were asked to check the list of publications and other scientific activities and make corrections if needed. These TUHAT compilations are public and available on the evaluation project sites of each RC in the TUHAT-RIS.

In addition to the e-form and TUHAT compilation, University of Leiden (CWTS) carried out bibliometric analyses from the articles included in the Web of Science (WoS). This was done on University and RC levels. In cases where the publication forums of the RC were clearly not represented by the WoS data, the Library of the University of Helsinki conducted a separate analysis of the publications. This was done for 66 RCs representing the humanities and social sciences.

The evaluation office also carried out an enquiry targeted to the supervisors and PhD candidates about the organisation of doctoral studies at the University of Helsinki. This and other documents describing the University and the Finnish higher education system were provided to the panellists.

The panel feedback for each RC is unique and presented as an entity. The first collective evaluation reports available for the whole panel were prepared in July–August 2011. The reports were accessible to all panel members via the electronic evaluation platform in August. Scoring from 1 to 5 was used to complement written feedback in association with evaluation questions 1–4 (scientific focus and quality, doctoral training, societal impact, cooperation) and in addition to the category evaluating the fitness for participation in the evaluation. Panellists used the international level as a point of comparison in the evaluation. Scoring was not expected to go along with a preset deviation.

Each of the draft reports were discussed and dealt with by the panel in meetings in Helsinki (from 11 September to 13 September or from 18 September to 20 September 2011). In these meetings the panels also examined the deviations among the scores and finalised the draft reports together.

The current RC-specific report deals shortly with the background of the evaluation and the terms of participation. The main evaluation feedback is provided in the evaluation report, organised according to the evaluation questions. The original material provided by the RCs for the panellists has been attached to these documents.
On behalf of the evaluation steering group and office, I sincerely wish to thank you warmly for your participation in this evaluation. The effort you made in submitting the data to TUHAT-RIS is gratefully acknowledged by the University. We wish that you find this panel feedback useful in many ways. The bibliometric profiles may open a new view on your publication forums and provide a perspective for discussion on your choice of forums. We especially hope that this evaluation report will help you in setting the future goals of your research.

1 Introduction to the Evaluation

1.1 RC-specific evaluation reports

The participants in the evaluation of research and doctoral training were Researcher Communities (hereafter referred to as the RC). The RC refers to the group of researchers who registered together in the evaluation of their research and doctoral training. Preconditions in forming RCs were stated in the Guidelines for the Participating Researcher Communities. The RCs defined themselves whether their compositions should be considered well-established or new.

It is essential to emphasise that the evaluation combines both meta-evaluation and traditional research assessment exercise and its focus is both on the research outcomes and procedures associated with research and doctoral training. The approach to the evaluation is enhancement-led where self-evaluation constituted the main information. The answers to the evaluation questions formed together with the information of publications and other scientific activities an entity that was to be reviewed as a whole.

The present evaluation recognizes and justifies the diversity of research practices and publication traditions. Traditional Research Assessment Exercises do not necessarily value high quality research with low volumes or research distinct from mainstream research. It is challenging to expose the diversity of research to fair comparison. To understand the essence of different research practices and to do justice to their diversity was one of the main challenges of the present evaluation method. Understanding the divergent starting points of the RCs demanded sensitivity from the evaluators.

1.2 Aims and objectives in the evaluation

The aims of the evaluation are as follows:

- to improve the level of research and doctoral training at the University of Helsinki and to raise their international profile in accordance with the University’s strategic policies. The improvement of doctoral training should be compared to the University’s policy.
- to enhance the research conducted at the University by taking into account the diversity, originality, multidisciplinary nature, success and field-specificity,
- to recognize the conditions and prerequisites under which excellent, original and high-impact research is carried out,
- to offer the academic community the opportunity to receive topical and versatile international peer feedback,
- to better recognize the University’s research potential.
- to exploit the University’s TUHAT research information system to enable transparency of publishing activities and in the production of reliable, comparable data.

1.3 Evaluation method

The evaluation can be considered as an enhancement-led evaluation. Instead of ranking, the main aim is to provide useful information for the enhancement of research and doctoral training of the participating RCs. The comparison should take into account each field of science and acknowledge their special character.

3 The panellists did not read research reports or abstracts but instead, they evaluated answers to the evaluation questions, tables and compilations of publications, other scientific activities, bibliometrics or comparable analyses.
4 Policies on doctoral degrees and other postgraduate degrees at the University of Helsinki.
The comparison produced information about the present status and factors that have lead to success. Also challenges in the operations and outcomes were recognized.

The evaluation approach has been designed to recognize better the significance and specific nature of researcher communities and research areas in the multidisciplinary top-level university. Furthermore, one of the aims of the evaluation is to bring to light those evaluation aspects that differ from the prevalent ones. Thus the views of various fields of research can be described and research arising from various starting points understood better. The doctoral training is integrated into the evaluation as a natural component related to research. Operational processes of doctoral training are being examined in the evaluation.

Five stages of the evaluation method were:
1. Registration – Stage 1
2. Self-evaluation – Stage 2
3. TUHAT\(^5\) compilations on publications and other scientific activities\(^6\)
4. External evaluation
5. Public reporting

1.4 Implementation of the external evaluation

Five Evaluation Panels
Five evaluation panels consisted of independent, renowned and highly respected experts. The main domains of the panels are:
1. biological, agricultural and veterinary sciences
2. medicine, biomedicine and health sciences
3. natural sciences
4. humanities
5. social sciences

The University invited 10 renowned scientists to act as chairs or vice-chairs of the five panels based on the suggestions of faculties and independent institutes. Besides leading the work of the panel, an additional role of the chairs was to discuss with other panel chairs in order to adopt a broadly similar approach. The panel chairs and vice-chairs had a pre-meeting on 27 May 2011 in Amsterdam.

The panel compositions were nominated by the Rector of the University 27 April 2011. The participating RCs suggested the panel members. The total number of panel members was 50. The reason for a smaller number of panelists as compared to the previous evaluations was the character of the evaluation as a meta-evaluation. The panelists did not read research reports or abstracts but instead, they evaluated answers to the evaluation questions, tables and compilations of publications, other scientific activities, bibliometrics and comparable analyses.

The panel meetings were held in Helsinki:
- On 11–13 September 2011: (1) biological, agricultural and veterinary sciences, (2) medicine, biomedicine and health sciences and (3) natural sciences.
- On 18–20 September 2011: (4) humanities and (5) social sciences.

\(^5\) TUHAT (acronym) of Research Information System (RIS) of the University of Helsinki

\(^6\) Supervision of thesis, prizes and awards, editorial work and peer reviews, participation in committees, boards and networks and public appearances.
1.5 Evaluation material

The main material in the evaluation was the RCs’ self-evaluations that were qualitative in character and allowed the RCs to choose what was important to mention or emphasise and what was left unmentioned.

The present evaluation is exceptional at least in the Finnish context because it is based on both the evaluation documentation (self-evaluation questions, publications and other scientific activities) and the bibliometric reports. All documents were delivered to the panellists for examination.

Traditional bibliometrics can be reasonably done mainly in medicine, biosciences and natural sciences when using the Web of Science database, for example. Bibliometrics, provided by CWTS/The Centre for Science and Technology Studies, University of Leiden, cover only the publications that include WoS identification in the TUHAT-RIS.

Traditional bibliometrics are seldom relevant in humanities and social sciences because the international comparable databases do not store every type of high quality research publications, such as books and monographs and scientific journals in other languages than English. The Helsinki University Library has done analysis to the RCs, if their publications were not well represented in the Web of Science databases (RCs should have at least 50 publications and internal coverage of publications more than 40%) – it meant 58 RCs. The bibliometric material for the evaluation panels was available in June 2011. The RC-specific bibliometric reports are attached at the end of each report.

The panels were provided with the evaluation material and all other necessary background information, such as the basic information about the University of Helsinki and the Finnish higher education system.

1.7 Evaluation criteria

The panellists were expected to give evaluative and analytical feedback to each evaluation question according to their aspects in order to describe and justify the quality of the submitted material. In addition, the evaluation feedback was asked to be pointed out the level of the performance according to the following classifications:
- outstanding (5)
- excellent (4)
- very good (3)
- good (2)
- sufficient (1)

Evaluation according to the criteria was to be made with thorough consideration of the entire evaluation material of the RC in question. Finally, in questions 1-4 and 9, the panellists were expected to classify their written feedback into one of the provided levels (the levels included respective descriptions, 'criteria'). Some panels used decimals in marks. The descriptive level was interpreted according to the integers and not rounding up the decimals by the editors.

Description of criteria levels

Question 1 – FOCUS AND QUALITY OF THE RC’S RESEARCH

Classification: Criteria (level of procedures and results)

Outstanding quality of procedures and results (5)
Outstandingly strong research, also from international perspective. Attracts great international interest with a wide impact, including publications in leading journals and/or monographs published by leading international publishing houses. The research has world leading qualities. The research focus, key research questions scientific significance, societal impact and innovativeness are of outstanding quality.

In cases where the research is of a national character and, in the judgement of the evaluators, should remain so, the concepts of "international attention" or "international impact" etc. in the grading criteria above may be replaced by "international comparability".
Operations and procedures are of outstanding quality, transparent and shared in the community. The improvement of research and other efforts are documented and operations and practices are in alignment with the documentation. The ambition to develop the community together is of outstanding quality.

Excellent quality of procedures and results (4)
Research of excellent quality. Typically published with great impact, also internationally. Without doubt, the research has a leading position in its field in Finland.

Operations and procedures are of excellent quality, transparent and shared in the community. The improvement of research and other efforts are documented and operations and practices are to large extent in alignment with the documentation. The ambition to develop the community together is of excellent quality.

Very good quality of procedures and results (3)
The research is of such very good quality that it attracts wide national and international attention.

Operations and procedures are of very good quality, transparent and shared in the community. The improvement of research and other efforts are documented and operations and practices are to large extent in alignment with the documentation. The ambition to develop the community together is of very good quality.

Good quality of procedures and results (2)
Good research attracting mainly national attention but possessing international potential, extraordinarily high relevance may motivate good research.

Operations and procedures are of good quality, shared occasionally in the community. The improvement of research and other efforts are occasionally documented and operations and practices are to large extent in alignment with the documentation. The ambition to develop the community together is of good quality.

Sufficient quality of procedures and results (1)
In some cases the research is insufficient and reports do not gain wide circulation or do not have national or international attention. Research activities should be revised.

Operations and procedures are of sufficient quality, shared occasionally in the community. The improvement of research and other efforts are occasionally documented and operations and practices are to some extent in alignment with the documentation. The ambition to develop the community together is of sufficient quality.

Question 2 – DOCTORAL TRAINING
Question 3 – SOCIETAL IMPACT
Question 4 – COLLABORATION

Classification: Criteria (level of procedures and results)
Outstanding quality of procedures and results (5)
Procedures are of outstanding quality, transparent and shared in the community. The practices and quality of doctoral training/societal impact/international and national collaboration/leadership and management are documented and operations and practices are in alignment with the documentation. The ambition to develop the community together is of outstanding quality. The procedures and results are regularly evaluated and the feedback has an effect on the planning.

Excellent quality of procedures and results (4)
Procedures are of excellent quality, transparent and shared in the community. The practices and quality of doctoral training/societal impact/international and national collaboration/leadership and management are documented and operations and practices are to large extent in alignment with the documentation. The ambition to develop the community together is of excellent quality. The procedures and outcomes are evaluated and the feedback has an effect on the planning.

Very good quality of procedures and results (3)
Procedures are of very good quality, transparent and shared in the community. The practices and quality of doctoral training/societal impact/international and national collaboration/leadership and management are documented and operations and practices are to large extent in alignment with the documentation. The ambition to develop the community together is of very good quality. The procedures and outcomes are evaluated and the feedback has an effect on the planning.
management are documented and operations and practices are to large extent in alignment with the documentation. The ambition to develop the community together is of very good quality.

Good quality of procedures and results (2)

Procedures are of good quality, shared occasionally in the community. The practices and quality of doctoral training/societal impact/international and national collaboration/leadership and management are documented and operations and practices are to large extent in alignment with the documentation. The ambition to develop the community together is of good quality.

Sufficient quality of procedures and results (1)

Procedures are of sufficient quality, transparent and shared in the community. The practices and quality of doctoral training/societal impact/international and national collaboration/leadership and management are occasionally documented and operations and practices are to some extent in alignment with the documentation. The ambition to develop the community together is of sufficient quality.

Question 9 – CATEGORY

Participation category – fitness for the category chosen

The choice and justification for the chosen category below should be reflected in the RC’s responses to the evaluation questions 1–8.

1. The research of the participating community represents the international cutting edge in its field.

2. The research of the participating community is of high quality, but the community in its present composition has yet to achieve strong international recognition or a clear break-through.

3. The research of the participating community is distinct from mainstream research, and the special features of the research tradition in the field must be considered in the evaluation. The research is of high quality and has great significance and impact in its field. However, the generally used research evaluation methods do not necessarily shed sufficient light on the merits of the research.

4. The research of the participating community represents an innovative opening. A new opening can be an innovative combination of research fields, or it can be proven to have a special social, national or international demand or other significance. Even if the researcher community in its present composition has yet to obtain proof of international success, its members can produce convincing evidence of the high level of their previous research.

5. The research of the participating community has a highly significant societal impact. The participating researcher community is able to justify the high social significance of its research. The research may relate to national legislation, media visibility or participation in social debate, or other activities promoting social development and human welfare. In addition to having societal impact, the research must be of a high standard.

An example of outstanding fitness for category choice (5)\(^7\)

The RC’s representation and argumentation for the chosen category were convincing. The RC recognized its real capacity and apparent outcomes in a wider context to the research communities. The specific character of the RC was well-recognized and well stated in the responses. The RC fitted optimally for the category.

- Outstanding (5)
- Excellent (4)
- Very good (3)
- Good (2)
- Sufficient (1)

The above-mentioned definition of outstanding was only an example in order to assist the panellists in the positioning of the classification. There was no exact definition for the category fitness.

\(^7\) The panels discussed the category fitness and made the final conclusions of the interpretation of it.
1.8 Timetable of the evaluation

The main timetable of the evaluation:

1. Registration November 2010
3. External peer review May–September 2011
4. Published reports University level public report March–April 2012
   - RC specific reports

The entire evaluation was implemented during the university's strategy period 2010–2012. The preliminary results were available for the planning of the following strategy period in late autumn 2011. The evaluation reports will be published in March/April 2012. More detailed time schedule is published in the University report.

1.9 Evaluation feedback – consensus of the entire panel

The panellists evaluated all the RC-specific material before the meetings in Helsinki and mailed the draft reports to the evaluation office. The latest interim versions were on-line available to all the panellists on the Wiki-sites. In September 2011, in Helsinki the panels discussed the material, revised the first draft reports and decided the final numeric evaluation. After the meetings in Helsinki, the panels continued working and finalised the reports before the end of November 2011. The final RC-specific reports are the consensus of the entire panel.

The evaluation reports were written by the panels independently. During the editing process, the evaluation office requested some clarifications from the panels when necessary. The tone and style in the reports were not harmonized in the editing process. All the reports follow the original texts written by the panels as far as it was possible.

The original evaluation material of the RCs, provided for the panellists is attached at the end of the report. It is essential to notice that the exported lists of publications and other scientific activities depend how the data was stored in the TUHAT-RIS by the RCs.
2 Evaluation feedback

2.1 Focus and quality of the RC’s research

- Description of
  - the RC’s research focus
  - the quality of the RC’s research (incl. key research questions and results)
  - the scientific significance of the RC’s research in the research field(s)
- Identification of the ways to strengthen the focus and improve the quality of the RC’s research

ASPECTS: Scientific quality, scientific significance, societal impact, innovativeness

Strengths
The RC has been able to define a research agenda that is at the same time focused and flexible enough to allow work in different disciplines and on many concrete social phenomena. For a fairly big RC like this the organization into three clusters, concentrating on politics and law (POL), culture (CULT), and philosophy (PHIL), also seems both natural and well-functioning. The RC has been the member of two CoE appointed by the Academy of Finland and its director is a newly appointed Academy Professor. As a whole, the work of the RC appears as impressingly and solidly interdisciplinary and versatile. It is also theoretically ambitious.

There is a good array of publications. Of the 254 journal articles a fair number have appeared in ranked or highly ranked journals; also the publishing houses of the 56 books are often ranked as leading (14) or scientific. The bibliometric analysis, which is generally not favourable to humanities, points in the direction of high international scientific impact, as do key note invitations. The Finnish publication fora are diverse but include leading scholarly journals from many fields.

Areas of development
A relatively large part of the publications are single-authored (82 %) and 63 % are in Finnish while 30 % are in English, followed by Swedish, Russian, Estonian and German. The RC might consider publishing more in non-domestic languages and relying more on joint publications. This could deepen the interdisciplinarity which seems already to be one of its strengths.

The focus of research does not seem especially innovative, the theoretical paradigms are solid, but based largely in late 20th century cultural studies, and there seems to be too little on masculinities to really underpin the RC name ‘Gender studies’. There is a need, too, for greater internationalization.

Recommendation
The RC is already aware of the possibilities for international research funding. See also Areas of development above.

Numeric evaluation: 4 (Excellent)

2.2 Practises and quality of doctoral training

- Organising of the doctoral training in the RC. Description of the RC’s principles for:
  - recruitment and selection of doctoral candidates
  - supervision of doctoral candidates
  - collaboration with faculties, departments/institutes, and potential graduate schools/doctoral programmes
  - good practises and quality assurance in doctoral training
  - assuring of good career perspectives for the doctoral candidates/fresh doctorates
• Identification of the RC's strengths and challenges related to the practises and quality of doctoral training, and the actions planned for their development.
• Additional material: TUHAT compilation of the RC's other scientific activities/supervision of doctoral dissertations

ASPECTS: Processes and good practices related to leadership and management

Strengths
The RC, with responsibility for doctoral studies in Gender studies, has a well-planned and successful doctoral program with both individual supervising and group based and intergenerational mentoring (combination of doctoral and post doctoral training). There is good co-operation with the national Gender System graduate school and with international centres, in particular the Nordic InterGender school where the RC participates.

In addition to 12 Gender studies doctoral candidates the RC supervises 17 candidates with other home departments. There is good co-operation with these and a high degree of cross-disciplinary training of doctoral candidates. The candidates who have finished have had very good post doc careers so far and the RC is well aware of the demand for doctors in this field internationally and nationally. Also the candidates' political and cultural activities help to assure good career prospects.

There is a solid ‘through put’ of doctoral students.

Areas of development
The development of doctoral courses for this interdisciplinary group is seen as a challenge. Perhaps one solution is even more co-operation with the Faculties and other departments/disciplines.

How recruitment takes place is not clear.

Other remarks
The analysis of strengths and challenges is excellent.

The students' opportunity to 'shop' demonstrates flexibility but it also causes one to wonder whether it contributes to diffusion of the RC. At present, it is not clear that the RC's doctoral training is rooted in a community of inquirers rather than individual researchers/supervisors and postgraduate courses.

Recommendation
See above.

Numeric evaluation: 4 (Excellent)

2.3 The societal impact of research and doctoral training

• Description on how the RC interacts with and contributes to the society (collaboration with public, private and/or 3rd sector).
• Identification of the ways to strengthen the societal impact of the RC's research and doctoral training.
• Additional material: TUHAT compilation of the RC's other scientific activities.

ASPECTS: Societal impact, national and international collaboration, innovativeness

Strengths
Members of the RC are consulted by authorities both on the national and EU level, and there is increasing consultancies with the private sector as well. Other members actively participate in civil society through popular writing, debates, and activism of various kinds. There is good representation in policy forums. On the whole, there is a strong and direct impact of the RC on society. In addition, research often deals with concrete issues both on the international level (including the Third world) and national level (particularly the POL and CULT –clusters).
Other remarks
The evidence is both over-represented and under-represented. If there are many other places where the RC has societal impact, as is stated, they should be represented here. On the other hand, phrases such as “constantly in the media” are an exaggeration.

Recommendation
Many excellent ideas are listed in the self-evaluation. The idea of apprentice periods seems especially interesting. However, the energy put into this area should be weighed against the energy put into research itself.

numeric evaluation: 4 (Excellent)

2.4 International and national (incl. intersectoral) research collaboration and researcher mobility

- Description of
  - the RC’s research collaborations and joint doctoral training activities
  - how the RC has promoted researcher mobility

- Identification of the RC’s strengths and challenges related to research collaboration and researcher mobility, and the actions planned for their development.

ASPECTS: Scientific quality, national and international collaboration

Strengths
There is active international and national collaboration, and in particular the international presence of RC members abroad and visiting scholars at UH is growing. The partners are important scholars and institutions and the co-operation has been fruitful. The open and collaborative (rather than competitive) attitude towards other Finnish universities is praiseworthy. There is good evidence shown.

Recommendation
Plans for using the Marie Curie –program to attract more visiting scholars exist. It is a good idea to use this and other international sources of funding to deepen the international collaboration.
The RC should develop more long-range projects based on truly collaborative research between the RC and other centres rather than just individual researchers.

numeric evaluation: 4 (Excellent)

2.5 Operational conditions

- Description of the operational conditions in the RC’s research environment (e.g. research infrastructure, balance between research and teaching duties).

- Identification of the RC’s strengths and challenges related to operational conditions, and the actions planned for their development.

ASPECTS: Processes and good practices related to leadership and management

The history of this unit dates back 30-40 years. During the evaluation period, it has had 59 members, among them 13 PI’s (almost one quarter).

Strengths
Many of the RC members have research positions; only few are tenured. This means that there is a lot of time for research although the position of individual researchers may be uncertain. On the other hand, researchers have been successful in their applications. The PI to non-PI ratio is good.
The RC is strongly interdisciplinary with members from many faculties (humanities, social sciences, law, theology) and disciplines. The “intellectual infrastructure” (networks, seminar) is in place, as are other infrastructures (libraries, support services, archives). On the whole, this RC functions largely as a network, with scholars hosted by different departments as well as by the Helsinki Collegium for Advanced Studies, which has been an excellent resource. The RC is big enough not to be dependent on single members moving to other universities.

The account of the operational conditions is very sanguine.

Areas of development
Increasing teaching duties and the future of the research seminar are mentioned as challenges.

Other remarks
There are few male researchers (among those with Finnish names, only three).

Recommendation
Discuss the teaching and research seminar arrangements with head of department.

2.6 Leadership and management in the researcher community

- Description of
  - the execution and processes of leadership in the RC
  - how the management-related responsibilities and roles are distributed in the RC
  - how the leadership- and management-related processes support
    - high quality research
    - collaboration between principal investigators and other researchers in the RC
    - the RC’s research focus
    - strengthening of the RC’s know-how
- Identification of the RC’s strengths and challenges related to leadership and management, and the actions planned for developing the processes

ASPECTS: Processes and good practices related to leadership and management

Strengths
The flexible structure of the RC forms a good environment for research initiatives and co-operation between groups and disciplines. The three clusters have each a clear leadership. RC maintains democratic leadership with an emphasis on mentoring rather than hierarchical structures.

Areas of development
While the present model of leadership and management seems to work well it might not work as well in the future. The administrative personnel is partly on temporary funding. The RC could reflect its management and perhaps draft a vision for its future in this respect.

Other remarks
The reported ‘rhizome’ structure of the organization was intriguing to read about. However, it suggests that genuine collaboration is not facilitated and that the RC is an assembly of very small clusters or individuals.

Recommendation
See above.
2.7 External competitive funding of the RC

- The RCs were asked to provide information of such external competitive funding, where:
  - the funding decisions have been made during 1.1.2005–31.12.2010, and
  - the administrator of the funding is/has been the University of Helsinki

- On the e-form the RCs were asked to provide:
  1) The relevant funding source(s) from a given list (Academy of Finland/Research Council, TEKES/The Finnish Funding Agency for Technology and Innovation, EU, ERC, foundations, other national funding organisations, other international funding organizations), and
  2) The total sum of funding which the organisation in question had decided to allocate to the RC members during 1.1.2005–31.12.2010.

Competitive funding reported in the text is also to be considered when evaluating this point.

ASPECTS: Scientific quality, scientific significance, societal impact, innovativeness and future significance

Strengths
The RC has been successful in its applications, attracting the impressive amount of 4,633,000 € from the Academy Finland. The money from foundations is smaller. Also several ministries have funded the RC.

Areas of development
There is no international funding: this should clearly be developed.

Other remarks
The total funding sum is not inconsiderable. However, it all seems to be from Finnish sources. This will have repercussions for the project of internationalization.

Recommendation
See above.

2.8 The RC’s strategic action plan for 2011–2013

- RC’s description of their future perspectives in relation to research and doctoral training.

ASPECTS: Scientific quality, scientific significance, societal impact, processes and good practices related to leadership and management, national and international collaboration, innovativeness, future significance

Strengths
The vision of the RC is ambitious but not overly. The Academy professorship of Pulkkinen is one important resource in this. Ideas for increased funding applications are concrete and international funding in particular is important. The future of doctoral training is seen realistically and the plans are good.

Areas of development
Much depends on the future of the positions of Gender studies at UH. The status of multi- and interdisciplinary units and RC’s should be discussed at the University level.

Despite the good aims, the proposed work does not seem particularly innovative and seems to be limited to feminism.

Other remarks
It is not so clear how the Faculty of Arts emerging priority Environment relates to the foci of the RC.

Recommendation
See above.
Clearly, the RC would benefit from new appointments. Perhaps these appointments should target researchers carrying out innovative work on masculinities.

2.9 Evaluation of the category of the RC in the context of entity of the evaluation material (1-8)

The RC’s fitness to the chosen participation category.

The RC has chosen as its category 2: The research of the participating community is of high quality, but the community in its present composition has yet to achieve strong international recognition or a clear break-through.

Strengths
The RC’s work has gained international visibility in various fields and is of high quality. Interdisciplinarity seems to permeate the RC as a whole, although research output is also channeled in discipline-specific fora. The RC shows an excellent self-understanding in its report, which is also specific enough.

Areas of development
Interdisciplinarity could at least in some cases be deepened towards transdisciplinarity. More joint publishing might be one way to do this.

The status of the RC within the University should be secured on a long-term basis. At present, too much of the funding is project-based.

Sustained international collaboration; innovative work and new paradigms; masculinities.

Numeric evaluation: 5 (Outstanding)

2.10 Short description of how the RC members contributed the compilation of the stage 2 material

Members contributed to Stage 1 mainly through email. Comments on the texts were asked before Stage 2. The PI’s were asked to comment on the report before its final submission. At stage 2 a library workshop was organized in order to facilitate feeding the database. The distribution of work might reflect the leadership structure.

2.11 How the UH’s focus areas are presented in the RC’s research

The RC defines as its focus area 9, Social justice and mentions that it itself emerged in close connection to the gender equality movements. The work for social justice related to gender but also against class, race, religious etc. inequalities remains a central force in the work of the RC, particularly in three ways: creating and disseminating concepts for analyzing such issues; analyzing particular cases of injustice; and spotting new areas of social injustice. Thus Gender studies at UH has been opening up towards other (non-gender) aspects of social justice and injustice, which is similar to the international situation in this field.

Some work in the RC is concerned with focus area 3, the environment (including landscape, etc.). That the RC states that it is mainly concerned with focus area 9 is perhaps indicative of its level of ambition.
2.12 RC-specific main recommendations

1) Developing more innovative research
   The RC should develop more intense collaboration between its groups in order to produce more interand transdisciplinary work, for example through increasing the amount of joint publications. It could head for innovative openings and broaden its field – as Gender studies – to include masculinities.

2) Stronger internationalization
   The RC should develop the international profile and deepen the level of international collaboration particularly at the level of the unit as a whole. It should develop more long-range projects based on truly collaborative research between the RC and other centres, which might also help to attract international funding. Members should publish more in non-domestic languages and make a strategy for recruiting doctoral candidates from abroad.

3) Consolidating the status of the RC
   The position of multi- and interdisciplinary units and RC’s should be discussed at the University level.
   The status of the RC within the University should be secured on a long-term basis. Too much of the funding is project-based. The RC would benefit from new appointments that might target researchers carrying out innovative work. The teaching and research seminar arrangements should be discussed with the head of department. The RC could reflect its management and draft a vision for its future in this respect.

4) Interdisciplinarity in doctoral training
   The RC should discuss co-operation with other faculties and departments/disciplines in order to develop interdisciplinary doctoral courses.

2.13 RC-specific conclusions

This is a strong RC with excellent results in publishing, national funding and careers of doctoral students.
However the collaboration between its three groups can be further developed, and the operational conditions should be secured as they impact on research and doctoral training as well as international visibility and impact.

Name of the participating RC (max. 30 characters): Gender Studies
Acronym for the participating RC (max. 10 characters): Gender Studies

Description of the operational basis in 2005-2010 (eg. research collaboration, joint doctoral training activities) on which the RC was formed (MAX. 2200 characters with spaces):

RC Gender Studies has its intellectual and practical basis in two large clusters of research projects, one in the feminist study of culture and the other in feminist political theory and research, both connected through intersecting research in feminist theory/philosophy, and doctoral training in the multidisciplinary field of Gender Studies. The RC has its operational basis in the discipline of Gender Studies, Department of Philosophy, History, Culture and Art Studies, Faculty of Arts, former Christina Institute for Women's Studies (-2010), but it extends across both faculty and disciplinary borders within the University of Helsinki.

The areas of specialization of the discipline of Gender Studies in the UH are feminist theory, feminist political theory and feminist study of culture. Apart from the Gender Studies discipline the RC work takes place also in other disciplines in the Faculty of Arts, in the Faculty of Social Sciences, and in the Faculty of Law.

In practical terms RC scholars frequently come together around Gender Studies in the form of scholarly events, such as international conferences, workshops around visiting scholars from abroad, research seminars and jointly organized doctoral courses. This co-operation is integral in creating the environment for doctoral schooling in Gender Studies. The doctoral schooling is also structured around intensive, national and international networking. The National Women's Studies Doctoral school, funded by the Ministry of Education (1995-2006 and 2007-2011), is coordinated from the UH Gender Studies. The doctoral training in the unit consists of doctoral courses, intensive individual supervising, a weekly doctoral peer team seminar with the supervisor, workshops, conferences and a research seminar, a wide forum for intellectual debate within the entire RC.

Motivation for forming the RC lies in its history of formation “from below.” Gender studies has established its disciplinary identity during the past 30-40 years in the UH. During the time now assessed (2005-2010) it has been in a stable existence as a truly multidisciplinary action, and it has produced a vibrant research community in the UH.

4 RC’S PARTICIPATION CATEGORY

Participation category: 2. Research of the participating community is of high quality, but the community in its present composition has yet to achieve strong international recognition or a clear break-through Justification for the selected participation category (MAX. 2200 characters with spaces): The RC has been very successful during the period of assessment in finding external funding for research, and the Academy of Finland has funded high research positions in the field. The RC includes the Centre of Excellence team Politics of Philosophy and Gender (PPhiG) (2006-2011). The academy professorship (2011-2015) in the field of feminist theory and feminist political theory granted to its leader Tuija Pulkkinen is as further sign of the excellent quality of the research. Kevät Nousiainen’s (Minna Canth AP 2004–2009) academy professor’s project on the concept of equality is interconnected with the CoE team. Nousiainen’s academy project GENIE (2007–2010) in the AF Research program Power in Finland studies the gendered power in Finnish law and politics. The cluster comprises research and doctoral schooling by Anne Holli and Johanna Kantola in Political Science as well as Johanna Niemi in the Faculty of Law.

Within the cluster of feminist study of culture Kirsi Saarikangas has led two academy projects "Representing and Sensing Gender, Landscape and Nature", (2007-2010) and "Nature, Gender, and Sensuousness in the Lived Suburban Spaces." Other funded projects include Leena-Maija Rossi’s on Finnish photographic art and video, Harri Kalha’s "Porn Academy", Terhi Utriainen’s on women’s writing on religion and gender, Elina Vuola’s on religion, reproduction and feminism in Latin America, and Susanna Paasonen’s on internet and pornography. The success in granted funding shows that the RC is assessed very high and recognized.

The projects of both clusters are intertwined through discussion in feminist theory and intersecting international networks. The publication record is high, and the National Women’s Studies Doctoral School has been evaluated exceptionally successful. All this shows the high quality of the research and doctoral schooling of the RC. In its present combination as a growing and professionalizing doctoral schooling and research centre, which combines feminist theory, feminist political theory and feminist study of culture, UH Gender Studies has not yet gained a status of an internationally recognized centre in the field, which it deserves.
INTERNATIONAL EVALUATION OF RESEARCH AND DOCTORAL TRAINING AT THE UNIVERSITY OF HELSINKI

RC-SPECIFIC STAGE 1 MATERIAL (registration form)

5 DESCRIPTION OF THE RC’S RESEARCH AND DOCTORAL TRAINING

Public description of the RC’s research and doctoral training (MAX. 2200 characters with spaces): UH Gender Studies RC specializes in Feminist Theory, Feminist Political Theory and the Feminist Study of Culture. The RC consists of overlapping and intersecting research projects, including a Center of Excellence research team (PPhiG, CoE PolCon) and a Minna Canth academy professor project. The RC, based at the disciplinary unit of Gender Studies, Department of Philosophy, History, Culture and Art Studies, reaches across disciplines and faculty borders in the UH. UH Gender Studies coordinates the national Women’s Studies Doctoral School; in addition, the RC Gender hosts a number of overlapping doctoral schooling teams led by several PI’s and their projects brought together through common doctoral courses, and conferences, such as tri-annual Christina Conference, the biweekly Christina Research seminar and workshops with international experts in the field. Gender Studies is a vibrant Research Community with actively maintained international networks.

The RC clusters of feminist research in philosophy, politics and culture are linked through feminist theory discussions and work that focuses on multiple key concepts, such as identity, subjectivity, representation, citizenship, the body, materiality and performativity. Much of the research and doctoral schooling in the RC involves conceptual and theoretical explication of the philosophical issues of contemporary feminist theory, such as Judith Butler’s work, Deleuzian feminist theory, or feminist phenomenology. Simultaneously, the research and doctoral work in the RC Gender Studies comprises carrying the contestation of concepts and theories to concrete cultural and political analyses of contemporary and past phenomena of gender and sexuality such as EU legislation, feminist and queer politics, gendered media representations, analysis of the history of Nordic architecture from a perspective of gender, history of particular gendered concepts, changing concept of family, as well as studies on transnational sexual relationships, evolutionary narratives, the figure of the paedophile, and diverse masculinities, just to mention few of the topics of a large number of individual research projects.

Significance of the RC’s research and doctoral training for the University of Helsinki (MAX. 2200 characters with spaces): Because of its multidisciplinary history of coming into existence, Gender Studies RC is exceptional in that it reaches across the faculties and disciplines across the university. In particular, keeping the faculty border between humanities and social sciences is impossible in this RC. In fact, the present RC application only comprises a limited number of the actual research network that relates to the same core discussions of Gender Studies and feminist theory, and shares intertwining national and international networks. The RC is further strengthened through feminist research listed under other RCs in the exercise. There is feminist theory work done in the RC “Subjectivity, Historicity, and Community”, and multidisciplinary feminist research in the RC “Helsinki Collegium of Advanced Studies” as well as in the RC “Sociology of Education: Governance and Interaction.”

The RC also takes part in the schooling of a large number of doctoral students in many disciplines (comparative literature, social sciences, theology, history, philosophy, archeology, languages, anthropology, comparative religion) through organizing doctoral courses for students of all disciplines. The effect extends widely over the core RC which takes part in this exercise.

The significance of the RC for the University resides also in its value for the equality work within the university and its impact in Gender equality in the society at large. The RC is widely used as a source of expertise required by public decision making and the media, and its impact in the society is significant. The scholars of the RC regularly take part in public discussion and are major actors in the conceptual change concerning gender and sexuality. In Finland this has been evident for instance in changes that have taken place in the legislation concerning registered partnerships, and in normative media representations and discourses on gender and sexuality.

| 6 QUALITY OF RC’S RESEARCH AND DOCTORAL TRAINING |

Justified estimate of the quality of the RC’s research and doctoral training at national and international level during 2005-2010 (MAX. 2200 characters with spaces): RC Gender Studies produces research on gender and sexuality in a wide scholarly perspective and, particularly it has the capacity to bring together humanities and social sciences in terms of political thought and study of culture. The RC has achieved a high level of competence, and the study the research community has produced has had an important political, social, aesthetic and intellectual impact. The quality of research can easily be said to match international standards evidenced by research appearing in internationally published books, both single authored and edited collections and peer reviewed articles, both in journals and anthologies; by invitations to present papers internationally, key note invitations; and in success in prestigious research funding applications and positions in international networks. The quality of doctoral training is excellent, and the coordinating responsibilities in the national doctoral school as well as in Nordic and European networks further strengthen the profile. Gender Studies in the University of Helsinki is a thriving and growing field of research. There is still room to improve, but a lot has been achieved.

Comments on how the RC’s scientific productivity and doctoral training should be evaluated (MAX. 2200 characters with spaces): The best methods for evaluating RC Gender Studies research and doctoral training would be peer review of published texts, interviews with doctoral students, and a site visit is also highly recommendable. Bibliometric methods, particularly, would not be effective in evaluating this RC, because no such methods have been proven to be reliable in the fields of humanities and social sciences.

RC-SPECIFIC STAGE 2 MATERIAL

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Name of the RC’s responsible person: Pulkkinen, Tuija
E-mail of the RC’s responsible person: tuija.pulkkinen@helsinki.fi

Name and acronym of the participating RC: Gender Studies RC, Gender Studies

The RC’s research represents the following key focus area of UH: 9. Yhteiskunnan oikeudenmukaisuus – Social justice Comments for selecting/not selecting the key focus area: The RC has grown from below in close connection with the key social movements of the second part of the 20th century, which struggle for equality in terms of gender and sexuality. The RC, in its core of research, remains active in transformations for social justice. Gender and sexuality intersect with many other areas of concern, such as class, race, postcolonial issues, and religion, which makes the research of the RC broadly significant. The RC focuses on social justice in three respects: 1) It creates concepts for analysing justice and injustice and actively disseminates them into the public discourse both in Finland and internationally 2) It analyses particular cases of injustice. For example, the RC is strong in analysing gender in political representation, and good examples also include studies on representations of gender and sexuality in advertising 3) The RC actively spots new areas of social injustice. Examples of this include studies on rainbow families, legislation concerning discrimination, and gendered violence, as well as studies in masculinity.

FOCUS AND QUALITY OF RC’S RESEARCH (MAX. 8800 CHARACTERS WITH SPACES)

- Description of the RC’s research focus, the quality of the RC’s research (incl. key research questions and results) and the scientific significance of the RC’s research for the research field(s).

The RC’s research focuses on three intertwined clusters: 1. study of feminist political thought, and gender and sexuality in politics and law (POL); 2. feminist study of culture (CULT), and 3. feminist theory and philosophy (PHIL), which also connects the first two clusters and underlies them both. The RC’s research focuses on concepts and conceptualizations of gender and sexuality. Since 2005, the RC has significantly increased international publishing. Single authored internationally published books, several significant edited volumes in cooperation with international partners, and numerous articles in international journals and collections indicate the growing international significance of the research. Simultaneously the RC continues to publish large quantities of high quality research in Finnish, crucial for its strong social impact.

The RC’s POL cluster analyzes contemporary issues of politics and law, and theories of democracy from the perspective of gender and sexuality. Research results by Academy professor Nousiainen and PIs Holli and Kantola (PhD studies: Raevaara, Saari, Norocel, Repo, Svanström, Weide, Hoppania) include: innovative contributions to feminist theorizing on gender equality, the state, and women’s movement, analyses identifying the surprisingly strong effects of the EU legislation on the contemporary Finnish legislation, aids and barriers to women’ positions of power in Finland. Academy professor Pulkkinen’s (PhD’s studies: Elomäki, Patosalmi, Kinnunen) work on feminist democratic theory and the history of feminist political thought has produced new accounts of how the histories of modern democracy and feminism are intimately connected. The innovative aspect, an approach emphasizing conflict and conceptual contestation in feminist political thought, is the basis for the gained CoE status. The RC has also done significant work on legislation on sexuality: on gendered violence, sex work and pornography (professor Niemi; PhD studies: Jokila, Ruuskanen), and homosexuality (Sorainen). The RC’s members in the Collegium of Advanced Studies (Muravyeva, Al-Sharmani, Dahlgren) work in global contexts on related issues: the history of legislation on sex in Russia, family law in Egypt and public gender in Yemen. Top international publications include Kantola’s two monographs, Feminists theorize the State, and Gender in European Union, and Dahlgren’s The Public Sphere and Morality in Southern Yemen and edited volumes by Pulkkinen, Palonen & Rosales, Ashgate Research Companion to the Politics of Democratization in Europe: Concepts and Histories, and by Holli, Hellsten & Daskalova, Women’s Citizenship and Political Rights.

The CULT cluster research on feminist and queer studies has developed new conceptualizations for the analysis of contemporary culture and media, e.g. “pornification” (Paasonen, Rossi, Kalha, Vänskä Sorainen). This cluster has produced interesting work on affect and gendered representation in media (Paasonen, Rossi, Vänskä, Soronen). The analysis of architectural history and gendered space in homes by prof. Saarikangas has been important, with remarkable studies on architecture of Nordic kitchens and suburbs. RC Research also includes the study of masculine space and rainbow families (PhD-studies Kinnarinen, Moring, Kuosmanen), and significant work on gender in music (Moisala) and literature (Korsisaari, Oikkonen). One strong research interest in the RC concentrates on Women and religion (Vuola, Utriainen; PhD studies Salmesvuori, Kupari, Tsoikkinen-Männistö, Tuomaala). Remakable work has been produced, e.g., in Latin American liberation theology and women’s relation to religion; Queer studies are a strong aspect of the RC: (Haritaworn, PhD studies: Kosmanen, Moring, with Masculinity studies (PhD studies: Kinnarinen, Norocel). Top international publications include: Moisala’s monograph on composer Kaija Saariaho; edited volumes by Paasonen, Nikunen, Saarenmaa, Pornification. Sex and Sexuality in Media Culture; by Saarikangas&Johansson, Homes in Transformation. Dwelling, Moving, Belonging, and by Paasonen & Liljestrom. Working with Affect in Feminist Readings: Disturbing Differences.

The PHIL cluster’s work focuses on the philosophical frameworks in contemporary feminist thought. The CoE/PPHG team’s (Pulkkinen) innovative aspect is concentrating on the contestations of philosophical traditions within the field of feminist theory instead of emphasizing unity. The RC’s work on the Hegelian tradition in feminist thought is remarkable (Pulkkinen, Werner, Roman-Lagerspetz). Within PPHG, PhD studies are conducted on Judith Butler (Pettijärvi-Brown, Karhu, and Butler’s Gender Trouble was translated by Pulkkinen & Rossi, 2006), on Deleuzian feminism (Urrio), on the concept Queer (Kornak), and Hannah Arendt (Honkasalo). There is work on the tradition of psychoanalysis (Ulomnen, Rundgren). Another Uh RC called “Subjectivity, Historicity, and Community”, on the feminist theory of phenomenological tradition (Heinämaa, Oksala, Björk, Lehtinen), is in close collaboration and partly intertwined. PHIL cluster’s top international publication is a ground breaking collection of new generation of feminist studies in Hegel, by Pulkkinen & Hutchings (eds.) Hegel’s Philosophy and Feminist Thought: Beyond Antigone?

Research in all the three clusters is strongly and multiply intertwined through individuals, projects and practices. The RC’s research not only produces a large number of relevant study on gender and sexuality in contemporary society and culture, but also constantly works on thinking of gender and sexuality in new theoretical terms. A strong reworking of the feminist tradition of thought is an integral substance of the RC’s work.

A major high level international periodical is published in co-operation with the University of Jyväskylä, Redescriptions. Yearbook of Political Thought, Conceptual History and Feminist Theory.

http://www.jyu.fi/yhtfil/redescriptions/ Tuija Modinos at Gender Studies is the editorial assistant of the journal, and Pulkkinen and Werner among its editors. Another international periodical publication established in Gender Studies at UH –in collaboration with the University of Oulu –during the period of assessment is the online journal of Finnish Queer studies society SQS Journal.

http://www.helsinki.fi/jarj/sqs/sqs_info.htm The RC members have been actively involved in editing the Finnish Women’s Studies Journal Naistutkimus-Kvinnoforskning (Holli, Kantola,Moring) http://www.nt-suns.org/index.php?pid=26 and NORA - Nordic Journal of Feminist and Gender Research http://www.tandf.co.uk/journals/titles/08038740.asp (Palin). The RC members act regularly as editors in numerous other journals, and as guest editors of special issues. They are used extensively as reviewers of manuscripts for publishing houses and journals internationally, and serve on boards in international and national journals.

The achieved success in international and national publishing testifies to the quality and significance of the carried out research very powerfully, as does the success in gaining funding, since all the individual AF research projects have also all gone through rigorous international assessing process. The quality of research can easily be said to match international standards evidenced by research disseminated in internationally published books, both single authored and edited collections and peer reviewed articles, both in journals and anthologies; by invitations to present papers internationally, key note invitations; and in success in prestigious research funding applications and positions in international networks.

Ways to strengthen the focus and improve the quality of the RC’s research.

The focus on feminist theory, feminist political thought and feminist study of culture has been productive. The RC will develop this further, with a new Centre of Excellence application in mind. We will submit high quality AF, ERC and EU applications; the existing work, research networks and international collaboration provide a firm basis for successful applications with varying combinations of researchers.

Publishing collaborative international work has been a successful strategy. The RC members will be encouraged to propose more book manuscripts to international publishers. We will continue organizing training workshops for submitting and publishing in international journals.

Interchange between individual projects will be enhanced through carefully planned workshops, with scholars and PhD students, strengthened with international key thinkers. These smaller scale encounters with larger ones (Christina Conferences, Christina Research Seminars, national Women’s Studies Conferences) have proved to be the basis for innovation in the past, and will be developed further.

2 PRACTISES AND QUALITY OF DOCTORAL TRAINING (MAX. 8800 CHARACTERS WITH SPACES)

• How is doctoral training organised in the RC? Description of the RC’s principles for recruitment and selection of doctoral candidates, supervision of doctoral candidates, collaboration with faculties, departments/institutes, and potential graduate schools/doctoral programmes, good practises and quality assurance in doctoral training, and assuring good career perspectives for the doctoral candidates/fresh doctorates.

The fairly recent transition in the Finnish universities from the previous free, long, and sometimes completely independent doctoral study, toward the Anglophone model of a 4-year, structured and highly supervised PhD schooling, is in the RC somewhat easier than elsewhere, since PhD in Gender Studies became possible only in 2004. The recruitment and selection of doctoral candidates in GS has been careful, and each admission is measured against resources of supervision and the prospects of funding. The ideal is that each admitted doctoral student has a full time uninterrupted funding for 4 years. The Faculty of Arts has recently reviewed its policies on PhD admission, supervision, and examination of theses. Students can apply to start a PhD in Gender Studies twice a year, and a thorough discussion with possible supervisors is required prior to submitting the application. The decision is made by the faculty of Arts committee on the basis of the research plan, and the commitment of the supervisors and the discipline. The recruitment conditions are displayed at http://www.helsinki.fi/hum/english/postgraduate/criteria.htm. Disciplines in which the PIs of the RC supervise doctoral students include also Political Science, Law, Art history, Study of Religions and Development Studies. All comply with the equivalent regulations of recruitments with those of the Faculty of Arts.

RC-SPECIFIC STAGE 2 MATERIAL

Of 29 RC PhD students in 2010, 12 are preparing their thesis in Gender Studies, the rest are supervised in the other disciplines. 12 dissertations are prepared in POL and PHL clusters, supervised by Pulkkinen, Kantola, Nousiainen, Niemi and Holli, and 17 in CULT cluster, supervised by Saarikangas, Rossi, Vuola, Utriainen and Moisala. Each supervisor is primarily responsible for the supervision, and there is interaction between the PIs who supervise.

During 2005-2010 12 RC members have gained their doctorate, 5 in Gender studies (Sorainen, Korsisaari, Tsoikkinen-Männistö, Urponen and Oikkonen; 4 (Raevaara, Jokila, Ruuskanen, and Roman-Lagerspetz) in Politics and law and 3 (Vänskä, Werner and Salmenvuori) in Art history, philosophy, and theology. The careers of these 12 fresh doctors have been quite spectacular; almost all of them have been able to secure funding for their post doctoral studies. Three have engaged professionally in good positions, like in the Ministry of social affairs (Raevaara), Chancellor’s office (Ruuskanen) and lecturer in university of applied sciences (Tsoikkinen-Männistö). The rest of the fresh doctors are currently working on, or secured, funding for individual post doctoral research projects at the UH (and Vänskä at the University of Stockholm), either through AF funded teams or through individual grants from AF and foundations. This testifies to the extremely high quality of the completed dissertations, since the stage between doctoral degree and postdoctoral studies is still the most difficult one in the Finnish system, and most academics have great difficulty in pursuing postdoctoral career after finishing their PhD even if they are motivated.

One very important factor in the PhD schooling is the national doctoral school, led from the HU Gender studies since its beginning in 1995. (1995-2006, Gender System Graduate School, led by prof. Nenola; 2007-2011 Finnish Research School in Women’s and Gender Studies, led by prof. Saarikangas.) The school is a major base of developing good practices and bringing together the national resources in Gender Studies (all professors are active board members, and take part in supervision in working meetings, several each year). The school is very committed to the supervision of the students it has selected for a 4-year funding. In addition, it has provided similar supervision and course participation privileges for a number of additional students. The number of the HU doctoral students who have been in supervision in the doctoral school: 2005: 13; 2006: 13; 2007: 8; 2008: 7; 2009: 9; 2010: 8. Many more have taken part in the courses organized by the doctoral school. During these years 8 HU PhD students, who have been doctoral school supervisees, have completed their PhD’s.

The supervision of doctoral candidates in the RC has been under regular improvement. Individual supervision is the core, and the PIs of the RC are known to be particularly devoted supervisors. In addition, there has been a group based supervision and intergenerational mentoring in teams (PPhiG and GENIE). This has produced very good results, e.g., the PPhiG team’s supervision practices have been singled out as exceptionally impressive by the SAB of the CoE in their consecutive AF reports.

In the PhD schooling collaboration with the faculties, departments, and graduate schools is the rule. The Faculty of Arts supports all its doctoral students through the provision of courses on a wide range of topics such as academic writing (also in English), research ethics, philosophy of science, conference presentations, popularization of science, and teaching skills. The doctoral seminars and doctoral courses taught by the PIs are organized as part of the curricula of the disciplines and departments. Courses are advertised nationally through ST-list, which reaches the national gender studies community very efficiently and also internationally through the channels of the Nordic graduate school. The PhD students usually “shop” for doctoral courses from the Nordic, European, and National supply, and also cross disciplines. Particularly important is the Nordic Research School in Interdisciplinary Gender Studies (2004-2009), continued by InterGender research school (2009-). http://www.intergender.net/ The Finnish doctoral school is a partner, and the Nordic doctoral school has annually organized four doctoral courses in theories, methodologies, epistemologies, writing, and on special themes, and the RC doctoral students have been active participants in these courses. Many students also take individual course or study longer times in Gender Studies centres such as Utrecht or Lindköping.

RC-SPECIFIC STAGE 2 MATERIAL

Good practices and the quality assurances of the training in the RC doctoral supervision include supervision agreements and developed peer commenting practices. New practices such as peer review of supervision (annual review meetings) have been added during the period of assessment. In gender studies, a multidisciplinary peer seminar, which has also been open to doctoral students from other disciplines, has been particularly productive. Also the Faculty of Social Sciences Feminist Forum has developed an intersectoral doctoral seminar which provides an opportunity for mentoring and discussion over disciplinary boundaries.

The career perspectives of the doctorates are constantly monitored, and at the moment they look very good. Gender studies is an expanding academic field nationally and worldwide, and career opportunities open in the academia. Outside the universities, there is a fast growing demand for experts in gender, in particular, experts on gender equality law and gender mainstreaming. E.g., in 2010 the EU has opened a new large equality institute EIGE, and the newly organized UN Entity for Gender Equality and the Empowerment of Women –organization doubles the UN equality budget and increases hugely the demand for gender experts.

The PhD students in the RC tend to be exceptionally active in civil society, in organizations, and in politics, which increases their prospects for employment on the doctoral level. Emphasizing international mobility in doctoral schooling also increases the PhD students’ abilities to employ themselves in the future, whether academically or otherwise.

- RC’s strengths and challenges related to the practises and quality of doctoral training, and the actions planned for their development.

  Strengths:
  - supervisor /supervisee ratio good
  - development towards a 4-year uninterrupted program of doctoral study; good practices: agreements, time schedules, supervision review, arrangements of doctoral courses.
  - strong national, Nordic/ European practices of collaboration in doctoral training.
  - collaboration across disciplinary / faculty lines in doctoral courses & research seminars a standard procedure
  - all research projects emphasize both doctoral and post doctoral training

  Challenges:
  - securing continuous funding of PhD studies (Finnish system fragmented: AF / EU projects, universities, doctoral schools, foundations’ grants)
  - more regular program of doctoral courses. Multiple sources for teaching make planning a program for an individual student difficult.
  - more text based doctoral courses
  - the transition period from a PhD to postdoctoral stage
  -keeping the career perspectives as good as they are
  -peer review of doctoral supervising
  - doctoral schooling extends over disciplines and faculties in the RC; courses need to fit in the curricular requirements of all
INTERNATIONAL EVALUATION OF RESEARCH AND DOCTORAL TRAINING AT THE UNIVERSITY OF HELSINKI

RC-SPECIFIC STAGE 2 MATERIAL

3 SOCIETAL IMPACT OF RESEARCH AND DOCTORAL TRAINING (MAX. 4400 CHARACTERS WITH SPACES)

- Description of how the RC interacts with and contributes to the society (collaboration with public, private and/or 3rd sector).

The RC members are active in organizations of Civil Society and the State in multiple ways, working on issues of gender and sexuality both in identifying problems and providing concepts for public discussion and expertise and assessments for the decision making in politics.

The RC members are regularly invited to state committees, which prepare legal reforms and plan and review policies. Particularly Nousiainen and Niemi are frequently used as experts in parliamentary committees, ministries and on the EU level. Nousiainen is a member of the European network of legal experts in Gender Equality. Niemi has been a legal expert, e.g., for the Ministry of Justice in the Reform proposal on sexual crimes 2010, and for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in the Convention on Violence against Women and Domestic Violence, 2010; Holli and Kantola were experts for developing the equality agenda for Finland’s EU leadership period, in 2006. Through the project “Monitoring of the Implementation of Beijing PFA: Indicators on Institutional Machineries” they created a set of indicators for measuring the work of state equality institutions, which had direct social impact on the European level. Several RC members have been active in the TANE, and in the evaluations of the Government’s gender mainstreaming policies.

These are only a few examples of the constant work that the RC members do in form of direct expertise impact on decision making and laws, in particular in the field of equality and non-discrimination legislation and policies on the national level, but also in the EU context.

Most RC members are regularly interviewed in the leading media on matters concerning gender and sexuality. For example, Rossi and Vänskä belong to the jury of intellectuals discussing contemporary phenomena in the leading newspaper, Helsingin Sanomat, Roman-Lagerspetz is active in media discussions on ethics and rights in matters of sexuality and gender. They and many others are constantly present in the media, commenting on contemporary public cultural phenomena. Holli and Kantola often comment on political events and the elections. Queer studies has produced a lot of visibility in the public discussion (Sorainen, Moring, Kuosmanen) and interaction with the social sector, particularly in the affairs of rainbow families, and the legislation on same sex partnership.

The RC members regularly publish work in Finnish, which is central for local social impact. All RC members have a large number of public presentations and are generally regarded as active transformers of culture. Events are often organized together with a wide range of organizations of civil society, such as: NYTKIS, Women’s Union, SETA, Trans-centre, Monica, Cassandra, Pro-centre, as well as political parties.

Most doctoral students are active in political and civil society activities. In the doctoral training the activity of students in public, private and 3rd sector is regularly welcomed and encouraged. Opportunities for periods of training in EU Women’s Lobby, or doing political work, are usually welcomed with applause. The private sector equality work is also taking first steps with consultancies being established and the RC members are in interaction with this growing field.
Ways to strengthen the societal impact of the RC’s research and doctoral training.

- Strengthen the ties between the national, EU and UN level equality organizations, e.g. regular apprentice periods for doctoral students in TANE, EU Women’s Lobby, European Institute for Gender Equality, and UN equality organizations.
- Provide courses for public writing, debating and media appearance – some measures already taken by the faculty and the doctoral school.
- Identify the possibilities in the private sector for equality work. Some steps already taken in alumni work.
- Encourage the RC members to have their internationally published scholarly work translated and published in Finnish. This provides conceptual innovation, depth, quality, and mobility of thought to the political and social discussion in Finland, and more efficiently transmits the RC’s work of into societal change.
- Organize more meetings with wide range of organizations of civil society: Essential for disseminating the results of research and in terms of providing an opportunity for the knowledge generated in these encounters to filter into research.

Description of the RC’s research collaborations and joint doctoral training activities and how the RC has promoted researcher mobility.

An increasing amount of research is carried out as part of international co-operation within the RC, which is also evident in joint publications. Some international research leaders have regular contacts to the RC as advisory scholars, e.g., Morny Joy for Finnish Women Writing on Religion and Gender; Denise Riley for PPhiG, and Rosi Braidotti, a honorary doctor of UH, visits UH regularly.

The RC members are encouraged to pay frequent visits abroad, also for longer research periods. During 2005 -2010 RC senior members have been located for longer periods e.g. in Bard College and NYU, and the University of Manchester. The doctoral students and post-docs have stayed e.g. at the Universities of Utrecht, Madrid, York, Michigan, Stockholm, New School, Sorbonne and Birckbeck College. Fresh doctors have also moved abroad for several years of research to Stockholm, Chicago and Harvard.

Visitors to UH Genders studies and to RC projects during 2005-2010 include, e.g., Mieke Ball, Judith Halberstam, Beverly Skeggs, Penelope Deutscher, Gill Valentine, Judith Squires, Morny Joy, Claire Hemmings, Naomi Scheman, Penelope Deutscher, Veronica Vasterling and numerous others. Prof. Irina Novikova (University of Latvia) has been an annual research visitor to Gender studies. Christina research seminar, a biweekly event of intellectual discussion, invites international speakers regularly, and all the research projects organize conferences and workshops, involving large amounts of international mobility connected with research collaboration; The RC is also active in international networks in gender studies: 2007 -2009 Kirsi Saarikangas was the president of the European Gender studies organization AOIFA.

National research collaboration is intense, and too numerous to account. Few examples: PPhiG-team is part of the CoE Political Thought and Conceptual Change, a research centre across universities and disciplines, Rossi takes part in AF cross university project POWCULT ("The Power of Culture in Producing Common Sense") and Utriainen is a member of the steering committee of the Åbo Academi Centre of Excellence project "Post-secular culture and a changing religious landscape in Finland" (2010-2014).

RC-SPECIFIC STAGE 2 MATERIAL

The Gender studies community is traditionally nationally very well connected. The Finnish Women’s studies society (SUNS), Women’s studies university network Hilma, coordinated from the HU Gender studies, the Women’s studies journal (Naistutkimus-Kvinnoforskning), and the annual national research conference Naistutkimuspäivät provide a rich basis for encounters and research collaboration. UH organized the 2010 national annual Gender studies conference with 270 attendees and 15 panels; the topic was "Law, Gender and Sexuality", and key note speakers included Drucilla Cornell.

The National Doctoral School of Gender studies, is coordinated from HU, the RC collaborates with other national doctoral schools, e.g. with Politu and the National doctoral school in Theology. International co-operation is active with the Nordic doctoral school in gender studies, and the European NOISE network, which organizes summer schools for doctoral students. The GENIE-group is part of a 3-year Nordic doctoral research training network "Multidimensional Equality and Democratic Diversity."

- RC’s strengths and challenges related to research collaboration and researcher mobility, and the actions planned for their development.
  - Strong, increasing publication record in international publishing; results from research collaboration, particularly joint publications with researchers abroad.
  - The HU Collegium for advanced studies contributes to the RC by bringing in scholars from abroad for longer periods of time
  - The tri-annual Christina Conference of Gender Studies has established itself as a well known international conference; it brings scholars from numerous countries to Helsinki. (The 2nd conference 2005, "Gender, Religion, and Theory in Dialogue hosted 130 participants from 18 countries, the 3rd Conference 2007, "Images and Global Contexts", had 85 participants from 16 countries. The 4th conference 2010 “Gender, Nature and Culture” had 110 participants from 18 countries with key note speakers Rosi Braidotti, Sarah Franklin, Priscilla Wald.
  - Challenges:
    - research visits to Finland could be longer and more productive, e.g joint publications
  - Planned actions: e.g. Marie Curie program will be used more effectively to attract post docs from abroad

5 OPERATIONAL CONDITIONS (MAX. 4400 CHARACTERS WITH SPACES)

- Description of the operational conditions in the RC’s research environment (e.g. research infrastructure, balance between research and teaching duties).
  The core of Gender Studies is in the Department of Philosophy, History, Culture and Art Studies. Gender studies is a small discipline of one professor (Nenola 2005, Saarikangas (acting) 2005-2009, Pulkkinen 2008-), and two university lectures (Rossi 2005-10, Vuola 2008, Uimonen 2009, Palin 2009-10, Uimonen 2010). Like at the other disciplines in which individual RC members work in professor- or university lecturer positions, which are Politics, Law, Art History, Music, Development Studies and Comparative religion, the teaching and administration duties are considerable in these positions, but the tasks are also designed to provide time for research and application processes for external funding for research. Most of the RC members, however, work in full time research positions paid by external funding, and in those positions teaching duties take 5% of the time. The PhD students have only very minor or no teaching and administration duties. The department of Philosophy, History, Culture and Arts Studies, as well as all the other departments involved, has a capacity to host research projects effectively by providing rooms and equipment for all research projects funded by external funds.
The success in applying to research positions (two academy professorships, several AF senior research fellowships, and postdoctoral fellowships and a considerable amount of individual PhD and post-doc projects funded by foundations) provides the basis for research, because through overheads these projects contribute to the HU administration, and physical environment, all of which function very well. In addition, the structures of international mobility and networks which provide a dynamic environment for research are crucial for the research environment. In Gender studies the infrastructure consists of intersecting national and international networks and research interests, which provide dynamic research environment. Established structures of seminars, workshops, and conferences, as well as international mobility guarantee a fruitful research environment in the field, in which the structures mainly consist of places for discussion instead of special equipment. Other infrastructures in the field of gender studies consist primarily of libraries, archives, and data collections of many kinds, which are generally well available for the researches of the RC.

An extra asset for the RC is provided by the HU Collegium for Advanced Studies, which has hosted and hosts several of the RC members. Gender studies scholars have been very successful in the very competitive selection for Collegium positions, and it has provided a very good infrastructure for those RC scholars, presently three, who belong to its personnel, and who often come from abroad. The Faculty of Law hosted one Academy professor (Nousiainen) for five years 2004-2009. After that period Nousiainen left for the University of Turku. UH has dedicated funds to a further five year professorship in Law and Gender, in which the appointment procedure is now pending.

RC’s strengths and challenges related to operational conditions, and the actions planned for their development.

Strengths: The departmental administration functions quite well in general. UH provides various services, e.g. assistance in applying for international funding. These services could be made use of by the RC even more effectively, to increase the amount of international research funding.

Challenges: Due to the diminished funding for teaching at the Departm. of Philosophy, History, Culture and Art Studies in the near future, the demand for teaching provided by the research personnel will increase. Their possibilities for doing research should be secured.

Genders Studies has introduced teaching assistant system designed for PhD students, but the funding for it is in danger at the moment due to the cutting of funds for extra teaching.

The funding for the Christina research seminar has been on a temporary basis 2009-2010. This seminar has already proved to be a successful and fruitful site for intellectual encounters between distinguished national and international scholars, and researchers, students and faculty in gender studies. The funding for this seminar should be made permanent.

Description of the execution and processes of leadership in the RC, how the management-related responsibilities and roles are distributed in the RC and how the leadership- and management-related processes support high quality research, collaboration between principal investigators and other researchers in the RC, the RC’s research focus and strengthening of the RC’s know-how.

The RC consists of multiple centres and research projects, each with their own leadership. The entire RC consist of intertwining, multiple and multilayered connections. The leaders of the research teams have strong and long time connections; also individual members are typically involved with many of the teams and centres simultaneously. Thus, there is a web, a rhizom type of structure built on commitment rather than top down leadership. It is executed at joint points: new constellations for research projects open up all the time and changes of leadership positions occur; this web is also flexible, e.g., towards new grouping in terms of seeking funding: Centres of Excellence, larger EU projects, and AF projects.

The current research clusters have clear leadership foci: Nousiainen’s GENIE team, Pulkkinen’s PPhIG team and the Saarikangas team. The teams are interconnected in many ways, e.g., Nousiainen is also a member of the PPhIG. The teams have regular meetings. Democratic decision making processes are important, in particular with joint publications as in the GENIE team, in which part of the research is conducted as team work. The leadership in all the teams takes place primarily in the form of mentoring, which guarantees the high quality of work through regular scholarly discussion, finding the internationally suitable interlocutors and making them available for early career scholars, post docs, and PhD students. The team leaders also find them the best places for international visits through the networks created through the senior members’ own research activities.

The leaders manage the projects’ finances independently, they are responsible for the planning and organizing of the academic program of the research projects. Individual members are often in charge of organizing events.

In the PPhIG team (13 members and 5 associate members, and a part of a CoE), a full time coordinator, Tuija Modinos, works with Pulkkinen in financial management, planning, and organizing a substantial amount of events organized by the PPhIG team (http://www.coepolcon.fi/pphig/?c=pphig-b-members), and as the editorial assistant of the journal Redescriptions. The national doctoral school also has a coordinator (at the moment Dr. Maija Urponen) who helps Saarikangas in the planning and managing of the program of the doctoral school. In gender studies, coordinator Outi Pajala has been helping with a large part of the RC in organizing of events and visits. She is also in charge of the management of the large Christina conferences, and assists academy professor Pulkkinen in managing the Christina research seminar. She was also in charge of organizing the 2010 National Women’s Studies Conference in Helsinki.

The PIs are regularly in contact with each other through Christina conference, National Women’s Studies Conferences, specialized cross team workshops, and Christina research seminar. As a result, cross team joint research applications and events are planned regularly.

The discipline of Gender studies organizes an annual research development event, in which leadership and management are explored at the same time when research focus, individual performance and issues of research techniques and strategies, funding, applications, and publishing are monitored.

- RC’s strengths and challenges related to leadership and management, and the actions planned for developing the processes.

  Strengths:

  Multiple leadership combined with successful research focus.

  Good amount of personnel in administrative positions at the moment: PPhIG coordinator and Doctoral school coordinator (both on external funds), Gender Studies coordinator (UH funds).

  Very good information distribution practices across the RC, also nationally (ST – e-mail-list, Minna portal (http://www.minna.fi/web/guest/home) and internationally.

  Challenges:

  There are not enough university positions (professor, senior lecturer) which allow leadership positions in research. In practice, successful research proposals can only come from people in these (so called background) positions. There is much more potential for research leadership in the RC than there are positions.

RC-SPECIFIC STAGE 2 MATERIAL

8 RC’S STRATEGIC ACTION PLAN FOR 2011–2013 (MAX. 4400 CHARACTERS WITH SPACES)

- Description of the RC’s future perspectives in respect to research and doctoral training.
  The RC has a clear vision: further expand the research activity in the present focus area and build UH gender studies into an internationally recognized centre for research in feminist theory, feminist political theory and feminist study of culture. The strategy for 2011-2013 is important in strengthening the base towards this goal.

A strong basis is provided by the academy professorship of Pulkkinen for 2011 -2015 on "Philosophy and Politics in Feminist Theory”. Building on the work of PPhiG, the project will focus on the study of concepts and the history of ideas in the study of feminist theory and politics. The faculty of arts has already recognized this as an emerging new priority of research. To gender studies, the academy professor’s project brings one senior scholar (J. Oksala), and three post doc scholars working on projects of feminist theory and feminist political theory, 2011-2013. The post doc projects of PPhiG members Werner and Sorainen (2010-2013), are closely intertwined with this team, and funding will be applied for 4 new PhD projects (Petäjäniemi-Brown, Karhu, Kinnunen and Rundgren) tied to this project. Pulkkinen will apply for ERC Advanced Grant for 2011-2013. Nousiainen, Holli, Kantola and the PhD students continue co-operation projects on feminist politics with Pulkkinen’s team, and apply for new research funding building on the successful GENIE and INTERSECT (2010-2012) projects, working on feminist theories of state and the analysis of women in politics.

Saarikangas’ project “Representing and sensing nature, landscape and gender” continues in 2011, and belongs to the Faculty of Art’s emerging new priorities in research, environment. Rossi’s research collaboration (Urponen, Korsisaari, Paasonen) focuses on critical analysis of heterosexuality, and intersections of gender, nationality and ethnicity. Paasonen and Rossi are applying funding for a joint AF project, which will also contribute to doctoral training. After a successful first round, Vuola is competing for a 2012-2015 academy professorship with a project on religion and gender in Latin America. All PIs develop new research projects based on their earlier work, most of the fresh doctors have already secured funding for new post doc projects.

Possibilities of applying for EU FP7 grants and ECR AG and starting grants will be closely studied in the RC. Pulkkinen has recently taken part in a large FP7 bid Tidemarks, on border, gender and sexuality (including Urponen, scholars from other UH departments, post docs from abroad). More applications will be developed. The RC’s strategy includes work toward the next centre of excellence application, based on UH Research Community, and specialization in feminist theory, feminist political theory and feminist study of culture.

The possibilities of successful research funding are crucially dependent on the decision about UH positions in Gender Studies. During 2011-2013 the two senior lecturers in Gender Studies will be selected. One of the positions has just been opened for permanent filling, while the other has just been surprisingly cut in 2011. Although it is in the strategy of the department of Philosophy, History, Culture and Art studies to fill it permanently, the funding is pending. Similarly, the faculty of Law professorship in Gender Studies is pending. There are no positions in Gender Studies in the faculty of Social Sciences. Very much in the future of RC depends on decisions about these and further positions through which the UH decides to develop Gender Studies.

Gender studies Doctoral school (2011-2014) is important, it has already been applied for (AF). The prospects look good; if granted funding (decisions in March 2011), the school will be coordinated by HU Gender Studies, led by Pulkkinen, with 10 funded 4 year PhD positions, 2 out of which will be opened for students from abroad. It will have an extended program of courses / workshops which will benefit the RC’s doctoral schooling.

Doctoral schooling in the RC; of the listed 31 doctoral students in the RC four have defended their theses (Jokila, Urponen, Ruuskanen, Oikkonen), and 22 will defend their theses in 2011 -2013. New doctoral students will be chosen according to the earlier adopted policy; only very carefully and based on the real possibilities of supervising and prospects of funding.

Most of the interactive work for compiling the material was done during stage 1, through abundant e-mail traffic. PIs reflected on their work, sent material to Pulkkinen/Pajala, who had initiated the effort. The new model of evaluation made stage 1 heavy; many had to choose between the communities they belong to. Younger scholars could choose only one RC and some could not manifest their ties to Gender studies community, if their dept. filed in an RC.

During collecting material for stage 2, the RC arranged a workshop in cooperation with the university library, to practice feeding material into the database.

The content of research was discussed during the compilation. During stage 2, comments on the text of stage 1 were asked for, with further ideas for the second round. Before submission, the text was sent to the PIs for further comments.

The research materials were filled in by RC members themselves. Pajala helped chasing few members (not active in filling in TUHAT database), and filled in initial information for those not able to do so themselves.

The bibliometric analyses by Helsinki University Library (HULib)

Background: The bibliometric analyses – especially citation analyses – have raised a lot of discussion and critics among researchers in social sciences and humanities. Researchers view that bibliometric analyses are often unfair to these fields of sciences because they do not give a good enough picture of the publishing. Citation databases – Web of Science and Scopus – cover only weakly the main publications in these fields. Also, in humanities and social sciences monograph is still the main form of publishing, and it does not include in these article databases.

At the University of Helsinki, the above mentioned concerns have been taken into account in the evaluation. The Evaluation Office has ordered analyses from the Helsinki University Library (HULib) for the participating researcher communities that are weakly represented in Web of Science. The database for the HULib analyses is TUHAT (https://tuhat.halvi.helsinki.fi/portal/en/) including all the publications that the researchers have considered important.

Based on this data, information specialists at HULib have carried out the following analyses:

1) Number of authors/publication/year as a table; a pie of authors/publication in the period 2005-2010;
2) Language of publication/year; a pie of language of publication in the period 2005-2010;
3) Articles/journal/year; journals have been compared by ISSN with the Norwegian, Australian and ERIH (2007-2008) journal ranking lists; number of articles in ranked journals;
4) Publisher/monograph type (according to TUHAT database); monographs have been compared with the Norwegian publisher ranking list. According to this, it has been counted how many monographs are published by a leading scientific publisher (2) or a scientific publisher (1).
5) Conference publications (from TUHAT database) especially in computer sciences; compared with the Australian conference ranking list.

Where relevant, some additional analyses and notes concerning the publication culture of a scientific field have been added. Overall, these analyses complement the other evaluation material and lists of the publications of the participating researcher communities.

If the publications of the RCs were less than 50 or/and the internal coverage less than 40 percentage, the WoS analyses were considered not reliable. These RCs were 58 altogether.

In addition, both Leiden and Library analyses were done to the RCs if WoS analyses covered less than 40 per cent of the peer review (A+C) publications of the RC. These RCs were 8 altogether.

The appendix includes the analyses of the RC under discussion.

Scholars in Women’s Studies and Gender Studies are active writers in various fields. Their input in political and societal discussions is visible here: they write to the academic, peer-reviewed journals (e.g. International Feminist Journal of Politics, Social Anthropology, Nuorisotutkimus), and daily and weekly newspapers (Kauppalehti, Kauppalehti Presso, Helsingin Sanomat) and activist, academically influenced magazines (Tulva, Dooris). Women’s studies scholars write regularly to (and have contributed in the birth of) Naistutkimus (Women’s and Gender Studies most important journal in Finland) and SQS (first and foremost journal of Queer Studies in Finland). Nordic co-operation is visible in Finnish writer’s active writing to Nordic journals (e.g. Nora).

Naistutkimus belongs to the category 1 in Norwegian list and C in Australian list. SQS is ranked to the C category in Norwegian ranking list. Nora’s ranking is 2 (Norway) and B (Australia). Scholars have published in very highly ranked international magazines, too: for instance Hypatia and Modern Fiction Studies (both ranked A* in Australian list, 2 in Norwegian).

Journal ranking (Norway, Australia, ERIH)

Norway ranking
Level 2 = highest scientific, Level 1= scientific

Australian ranking
A*
Typically an A* journal would be one of the best in its field or subfield in which to publish and would typically cover the entire field/subfield. Virtually all papers they publish will be of a very high quality. These are journals where most of the work is important (it will really shape the field) and where researchers boast about getting accepted. Acceptance rates would typically be low and the editorial board would be dominated by field leaders, including many from top institutions.

A
The majority of papers in a Tier A journal will be of very high quality. Publishing in an A journal would enhance the author’s standing, showing they have real engagement with the global research community and that they have something to say about problems of some significance. Typical signs of an A journal are lowish acceptance rates and an editorial board which includes a reasonable fraction of well known researchers from top institutions.

B
Tier B covers journals with a solid, though not outstanding, reputation. Generally, in a Tier B journal, one would expect only a few papers of very high quality. They are often important outlets for the work of PhD students and early career researchers. Typical examples would be regional journals with high acceptance rates, and editorial boards that have few leading researchers from top international institutions.

C
Tier C includes quality, peer reviewed, journals that do not meet the criteria of the higher tiers.

ERIH ranking 2007-2008
Purpose of The European Reference Index for the Humanities (ERIH) is to develop and to maintain an impact assessment tool for European research journals. Journal classification processes are conducted by discipline-specific expert panels. In the ERIH 2007 Initial List there are three categories:
A = international publications, both European and non-European, with high visibility and influence among researchers in the various research domains in different countries, regularly cited all over the world.

B = international publications, both European and non-European, with significant visibility and influence in the various research domains in different countries.

C = European publications with a recognized scholarly significance among researchers in the respective research domains in a particular readership group in Europe; occasionally cited outside the publishing country, though the main target group is the domestic academic community.
