

BIBLIOGRAPHY OF NEO-ASSYRIAN - 1988 AND UPDATES

Karlheinz Deller - Heidelberg

[Editor's Note: bibliographical information on Neo-Assyrian studies has been considered one of the indispensable features of SAAB ever since the initial planning of the journal. A first, experimental, and rather general classification of contributions on NA history and philology from 1945 onwards was offered in SAAB I/2, pp. 73-92. The present volume shows a markedly different approach to the same subject-matter, with substantial improvements in the quantity of filed material and its output. The SAA corpus project — to which our journal is ultimately connected — enjoys the unique privilege of having Prof. Karlheinz Deller (present co-editor of the Keilschriftbibliographie of Orientalia) as editor-in-chief; thus, despite his many other commitments, Prof. Deller kindly agreed to take upon himself the task of providing the 1988 update to the NA bibliography. Prof. Deller's filecards, as sent to the journal, presented an inner subdivision of essentially thematic character: this subdivision has been maintained below, to the aim of providing an analytical framework of studies on the Neo-Assyrian period, useful among other things for cross-referencing the alphabetically-ordered items in the Keilschriftbibliographie. — F.M.F.]
