

FOOD AND SUSTAINABILITY!

THE FUTURE OF SUSTAINABILITY IN FOOD SYSTEMS

YDIRE International webinar

19th of April from 9.30 to 11.30 EET (GMT+2:00 Helsinki) in ZOOM

- 9.30 Opening and moderation
Silvia Gaiani, Senior Researcher, University of Helsinki Ruralia Institute, Finland
Rumy Narayan, Project Researcher, University of Vaasa, Finland
- 9.35 Sustainability in large Finnish companies
Helena Kekki, Director in Corporate Sustainability – Chief Executive Officer at FIBS, Finland
- 9.55 Sustainable food systems: driving food waste prevention through technology and behavior change
Steven Finn, Vice President at Leanpath and Professor at UPenn, USA
- 10.15 Building sustainable food systems with Smart Agriculture
Hannu Haapala, Head of the Smart Bioeconomy research group at JAMK University of Applied Sciences, Finland
- 10.35 Building a sustainable and resilient food system with cellular agriculture
Maija Itkonen, CEO & co-founder of Onego Bio, Finland
- 10.55 Consumer insights into promoting sustainable food consumption
Harri Luomala, Research Professor in food consumption at School of Marketing and Communication, University of Vaasa, Finland
- 11.15 - Discussion session
11.30 Silvia Gaiani

PLEASE REGISTER BY 17TH OF APRIL! FREE!

<https://bit.ly/ydirewebinar>

 #YDIRE

Modifications to the programme may occur.

Contact person:

Hannele Suvanto
hannele.suvanto@helsinki.fi
University of Helsinki
Ruralia Institute

YDIRE- Through cooperation and digitalisation towards resilience in short food supply chains. The project is funded from the appropriations of the REACT-EU instrument as part of the actions taken by the European Union in response to the COVID-19 pandemic.